Selection Procedure

All applications are subject to a formal review. After that, nominees (a maximum of 3 per category) and winners are selected in a multi-stage selection process. Jury members are professors from renowned universities of the sectors, representatives from the industries, and editors from the international trade press will evaluate the applications. Evaluation criteria include cost efficiency, performance improvement, energy and resource efficiency, contribution to environmental protection, humanisation of working conditions and push in digitization. Jury members whose companies or institutes are participating in the innovation award are not allowed to vote in the respective categories.

What nominees need to do

If nominated, the nominee must supply the following:

- Applications in German and English
- Press release in German and English, including pictures and picture captions
- Film, not more than 90-seconds which shows the core message of the innovation

The film will be used for online media all around bauma; it will be shown at the bauma Media Dialogue and during the award ceremony. Companies will receive further details upon announcement of their nomination.

The nominees will be announced for the first time during the bauma Media Dialogue in Munich in January 2019. Nominated companies/institutes agree to participate in the event to answer questions of the press.
